March 1966 Objective Date
16-Month Job Expected
For Revamping Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is aiming to complete the revolutionary reorganization of the Army's Reserve forces in about 16 months, it was learned today.

Key officers of the National Guard and the Army Reserve have been told in secret briefings that the objective date for final action is the end of March 1966.

It is expected that Guard and Reserve outfits will go to summer training next year in their present form, some of these officers told The Associated Press.

The Army staff, aided by Guard and Reserve officials, already has begun the difficult job of working out solutions for the problems involved in shifting 150,000 Army Reservists and their units to the National Guard.

One of the first jobs to be handled is the drafting of a "troop list." This involves surveying the 4,000 Reserve units to decide which 2,000 or so will fit into the expanded Guard organizations, and how they will be distributed among the states.

Such a troop list — which is really only a beginning point for the reorganization — is not expected to be ready before mid-February. At that time, the states will know what units they will lose and what units they will gain.

Plans are being made to brief state governors, who have a powerful say under the law as to the disposition of the National Guard within their states.

Questions poured in on the Pentagon from reservists unsure of where they stand. Many of these questions cannot be an-

John Malone
To Be School
Food Director
Operator Of Rt. 2
Restaurant To Head
Hancock Program

The appointment of John Lee Malone, operator of a restaurant on Route 2, to the $7,500-a-year post as director of the school lunch program was approved Monday night by the Hancock County Board of Education.

Malone has 13½ years' experience in food service and planned and supervised the preparation of 4,550 meals a day during his Army duty.

He served seven years in the Army, including five years as mess sergeant. Because of his efficiency, he was named to lead an officers' club mess, the board said.

Malone was discharged in 1958 and served from April 19, 1958, to February, 1962 as a chef at the Sunflower Hotel in Abilene, Kan. He has owned and operated his restaurant since then.

The board also was advised that an audit of each school's account showed no discrepancies.

The board ordered the audit of the accounts at each school where approximately $50,000 is handled each year.

It also received a report from the County Health Department showing no active tuberculosis cases were found in the tuberculin time testing program administered to 5,171 pupils and teachers.

The health department said positive reactions were found among 26 students and 20 teachers, but no active cases were found.

It said the statistical information will be of "great benefit" (Turn to LUNCHES, Page 7)

Legislature
May Spill Into Next Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The special session of the Legislature may spill over into next week, if a party line fuss is not mended soon.

The special session, now in its sixth week, had hoped to quit Wednesday.

But Minority Senate Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas used a technicality Monday to block a Rules Committee report on a resolution urging congressional approval of a constitutional convention to allow state action on appointment.

Sen. C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, majority leader accused King of trying to dissipate GOP strength by sending members home in disgust.

Mechem said a session Thursday will be necessary.

With 22 votes needed to suspend rules, King stopped an attempt by the 20 Republican members to receive the resolution.

Meanwhile, a congressional redistricting bill remained with Senate-House conferees seeking to iron out differences. Committee members said they would meet again today.

House leaders held only a skeleton session Monday waiting for the Senate to clear away bills it has passed.

In an action this morning, House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, sent telegrams to representatives calling them back into session at 10 a. m. Thursday in hopes of winding up special session activities. Earlier, he had indicated he would call them back for a session Wednesday, but that was before the Senate wrangle came up.

House Rules
Unit Point Of Controversy
Democrats' Plans
Draw Opposition
From Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans of some Democrats to try to curb the House Rules Committee's stranglehold on legislation ran into some formidable Republican opposition today.

The plans may be a major subject of consideration at a meeting Wednesday of Republicans now serving in the House or elected to the new Congress convening Jan. 4.

In brief, a group of Democrats with leadership blessing wants to limit to 21 days the time during which the Rules Committee may hold up bills approved by other committees. After 21 days, the speaker could recognize a qualified member to call up such bills, regardless of the Rules Committee's position.

In letters to Republican colleagues, Rep. Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri, a leading planner for Wednesday's conference, urged Republicans to oppose the 21-day rule. He called it "the phony device the liberal Democrats have developed" to give the speaker more power.

As an alternative, Curtis proposed more frequent use of an existing rule known as the calendar Wednesday rule. This allows the chairman of a legislative committee to call up for a vote on Wednesdays any bill approved by his committee. It permits a complete by-pass of the Rules Committee, but has been used sparingly in the past because it limits debate.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, chairman of the GOP conference, said at least 115 Republicans have indicated their intention to attend the meeting.

Wellsville Board To Seek
State Aid On New Schools

The Wellsville Board of Education Monday night adopted a resolution to file an application with the state to obtain a grant towards construction of new facilities to replace two schools.

No figure was given during the discussion. The board, in its resolution, pointed out that it is "unable, within its limitations," to provide more classroom space without aid from the state.

The buildings to be replaced, according to projected plans, are the Garfield and McKinley Schools. The board has discussed the possibility of new buildings in the past but this is the first action.

The board, in explaining the move, said it has recognized the need for replacing the buildings for some time. Any further remodeling or repairing would be a "waste of money."

Labor Gains
In Fight For Less Hours

AFL-CIO Reports
18 Million Covered
On Shorter Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor, so far unsuccessful in persuading Congress to cut the 40-hour work week, is quietly winning the battle for shorter hours at the bargaining table.

Contracts covering eight million workers — 15 per cent of all wage and salary employees — provide for less than 40 hours, the AFL-CIO reports.

What's more, said an article in the labor organization's publication, the American Federationist, "with rare exceptions, the shorter work week was achieved without resort to strikes."

While not so dramatic as the proposed blanket cut by federal law, the contract-by-contract progress in reducing hours adds up to some surprising totals.

For instance, the article said, "among office employees, one-third are on schedules shorter than 40 hours." In the printing trades, 98 per cent of all workers are on standard work weeks under 40 hours. So are 97 per cent of the ladies' garment workers and 65 per cent of brewery workers.

"Unions are winning shorter work weeks in construction, manufacturing, retail and wholesale trade, finance, insurance and real estate, the service industries and in state and local governments," it said.

The report was based largely on Labor Department figures.

Some contracts go even lower than 35 hours. New York electricians, who have had a 25-hour week since 1962, are the classic example.

Rather than slashing several hours from the work week in one chop, the typical contract nicks off a few minutes at a time, like this one between the Chemical Workers and Burroughs, Welcome & Co. in Tuckahoe, N.Y.:

"Each workday is reduced, effective at once, by ten minutes. A year hence, another ten-minute reduction becomes effective and, in 1966, a third ten-minute segment is cut off, reducing the present 40-hour week to 37½ hours by July 1, 1966."

While noting considerable success at the bargaining table, the AFL-CIO is not giving up its attempt to write a 35-hour week into the Fair Labor Standards Act, which covers some 29 million Americans.

African Bloc
Prepares To
'Blast' Adlai
U. S. Ambassador
Had Hurdled Charge
Of 'Black Racism'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — African critics of U.S. policy in the Congo mobilized today for a counterblast at U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson after he accused them of injecting "black racism" into the Security Council debate.

Ambassador Achar Marof of Guinea told newsmen a strategy meeting would be held today by the 18 African and 4 Asian nations who have charged before the council that the United States and Belgium committed aggression by sending paratroops to rescue whites held by the Congolese rebels.

Most African delegates who had denounced the United States and Belgium in the council debate refused to comment on Stevenson's blistering reply Monday. But they plainly did not relish his charge that they were guilty of "irrational, irresponsible, insulting and repugnant language."

Pro-Western nations voiced praise for Stevenson's speech, in which he said many of the countries criticizing the United States are openly supplying military aid to the Congolese rebels.

Stevenson told the council the United States had "no apologies to make to any state appearing before this council" for its part in the operation which rescued 1,700 white civilians from the rebels.

"We are proud of our part in saving human lives imperiled by the civil war in the Congo," he said.

Stevenson charged the Congolese insurgents have received open support from Algeria, Ghana, Sudan, Red China, the Soviet Union, Congo Brazzaville and Burundi.

Most of the African countries which have condemned military aid from outside Africa have themselves received such aid, he said.

He said that in his seven years at the United Nations he had never heard such invective as that used against the United States during the present debate.

4 Reds Get 'Gate'

Soviet Expels 4
Of West Attaches

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union closed the gate today behind four Western military attaches, ordering them to leave the country — after they already were scheduled to go.

Four Soviet attaches in the United States and Britain were ordered out.

The four in Moscow — three Americans and one Briton — had been accused of spying after Soviet agents forcibly searched them and confiscated cameras and notebooks Sept. 26 in Khabarovsk, the Soviet Far East military headquarters city.

Since then they have been denied permission to travel in the Soviet Union, as military attaches normally do. The U.S. and British governments denied the spy charges.

The American and British embassies informed the Soviet Foreign Ministry Monday that the four men were being withdrawn from the Soviet Union.

The three Americans are Col. George A. Aubrey, the chief Army attaché; Army Lt. Col. Karl R. Liever and Air Force Maj. James F. Smith. The Briton is Lt. Cmdr. Nigel N. Laville.

Parsons Assumes Post

William Rea Returned To Planning Commission

William C. Rea, 1259 Erie St., has been named again to a post on the City Planning Commission which he gave up over a year ago when the membership was reduced from seven to five.

Mayor Merrill Hall announced Monday night at the commission's monthly meeting in City Hall.

Rea, a Democrat and an employee of the Patterson Industries plant, was one of the founders of the East Liverpool Recreation Council, the mayor recalled.

The commission now is back to its authorized membership of seven under an initiative ordinance for establishment of a new City Park Commission which voters approved at the general election Nov. 3.

State law provides that when a municipality has a park commission set up by vote of the people, the Planning Commission will have seven members. If there is no such commission — which was the case prior to the general election — the membership is restricted to five.

When the law on the commission's membership came to light, Rea and Judge Louis Tobin, who was chairman of the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners, withdrew from the Planning Commission.

At last night's meeting John Parsons of Curry St. also assumed his seat on the Planning Commission by virtue of his post as president of the new City Park Commission.

He and James B. Moss and Louis C. Yanni were named to the new park commission a week ago by the mayor. The commission then elected Parsons as its president, automatically making him a member of the planning group.

A representative of the firm preparing a "master plan" for East Liverpool reported to the commission last night when the first tentatively completed section of the report has been written and will be printed in time for review at the next meeting Monday, Jan. 11.

The report was given by Daniel Ziegler II as part of a progress report on the survey being made by Carroll V. Hill & Associates.

Puts Country To Disturbance Of Crisis, Firms Say

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The AFL-CIO United Steelworkers open contract talks with 11 major producers today amid scathing industry criticism.

These are plant-level negotiations. The national contract is scheduled to be reopened the first of the year.

In a joint statement Monday the 11 major companies, which represent more than 70 per cent of the nation's steel output, scored the union for announcing it would reopen the contract.

The companies said this "put the country to the disturbance of a potential crisis date."

The USW, which last month said it would reopen the contract to seek higher pay and total job security, is free to strike 120 days after the national talks start. This would make May 1, the earliest possible strike date.

However, since the crippling strike of 1959-60 — the most recent one — union and management have tried to meet in advance of formal negotiations to provide breathing room.

Industry's statement followed the first meeting of union chairmen from the 11 companies and their management counterparts.

The statement said in part: "We hope that the union will reconsider and not put the country to the disturbance of a potential crisis date. The union must know that reopening notices will not induce the companies to grant demands that are economically unacceptable."

The union's demands, as outlined last month, include higher pay, but no specified amount yet; unlimited unemployment pay for senior workers and more paid holidays, longer paid vacations and more liberal holiday and vacation eligibility requirements.

Steelworkers now earn an average of $3.03 hourly and get seven paid holidays.

Union President David J. McDonald has put no price tag on the package, but has said it is not inflationary.

The industry statement said "the union's program goes either to taking for the steelworkers an unfair share of the proceeds of the business at the expense of others, or increasing restrictions upon the companies."

Burglars Get Change
In Hancock Enterings

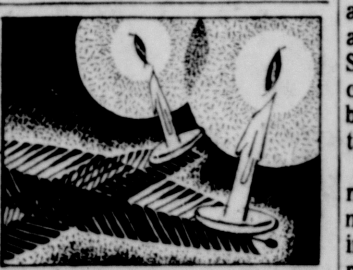

Chester police and Hancock County deputy sheriffs were investigating enterings at the Lawrenceville Firemen's Club and George's Restaurant in which undetermined amounts of change was taken early today.

Deputies said thieves broke through the front door of the Lawrenceville club and then opened a juke box and a cigarette machine in the bar for the change. The entry occurred between midnight and 5 a. m.

Thieves broke glass in the front door of George's Restaurant at Chester early today and rifled change from a coin-operated pinball machine, Police Chief Harold Davis reported.

The entry to the restaurant at Carolina Ave. and 7th St. was made between 2 and 5 a. m.

Jail Sentence Suspended In Hit-Skip Case

A 34-year-old East Palestine man was given a suspended 30-day jail sentence today in Municipal Court on a charge of leaving the scene of an East End auto crash Nov. 14 but a charge of driving while intoxicated growing out of the same incident was dismissed on motion of the prosecution.

Kenneth J. Cantwell, 389 E. Clark St., was cited on the two counts by Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr. after the East Palestine man's auto struck a parked sedan owned by James McGurken, 859 Ohio Ave., shoving it over the curb onto the property of Angelo Fiorillo, 855 Ohio Ave.

Atty. William Bush, counsel for Cantwell, advised the court his client has paid $105 for damage to the Fiorillo property and will pay an additional $640 for damage to McGurken's auto, which is being repaired.

Officer Burson told the court in an unsworn statement that Cantwell left the scene of the Ohio Ave. crash, but was apprehended on the River Rd. by McGurken.

McGurken obtained Cantwell's driver's license, but the motorist then drove away, he related. Cantwell later was arrested near Rogers by a deputy sheriff and returned to East Liverpool, he related.

In moving for dismissal of the drunken driving charge, Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark cited "lack of evidence" and said the prosecution's case was not "well-rounded." He cited a long time lapse between the East End mishap and the time when Cantwell was turned over to custody of local police. Clark also pointed out that Cantwell had made arrangements to pay for the alleged damage.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff termed Cantwell's actions "reprehensible" and "not the actions of a responsible man." He acceded to the defense plea for leniency on the grounds that Cantwell has a wife and a daughter, is employed steadily and has paid the damages. A jail term would result in loss of the defendant's job, Atty. Bush said.

NATO Meets In Paris For Policy Talks

PARIS (AP) — The North Atlantic Alliance's foreign, defense and finance ministers met today for their annual policy review. But they probably will sidestep the internal crisis generated by French-American differences over nuclear defense of the Western world.

The United States and some of its partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization want a system of joint control of nuclear weapons with the final decision on their use left to the president of the United States.

France insists on proceeding with development of its nuclear arsenal independently and claims an integrated NATO nuclear command would mean continued U.S. domination of Western Europe.

NATO's year-end ministerial council session was expected to defer any decision on the disagreement to permit further study of new British proposals — a device which will permit the United States and France to avoid an outright clash.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk assured President Charles de Gaulle during a meeting Monday that the door of any Allied nuclear command will always be open to France and that the United States has no desire to isolate France with its proposals for an allied multilateral nuclear force — MLF.

TV Line Plan At Lisbon Due Council Study

LISBON — A proposed community television system antenna was discussed at Council's meeting Monday night and Mayor Dean Stockman appointed Fred Steele, Robert Kelm and Clyde Pike to study the plan and make a recommendation.

Les C. Rau, general manager of Neptune Broadcasting Corp. of Steubenville, also left brochures summarizing the project.

He said the installation would cost from $125,000 to $200,000 and requested a 10-year franchise. In exchange for such an ordinance, Neptune is willing to pay the village $300 at the end of second year of operation, $500 at the end of third, fourth and fifth years, and $750 at end of sixth year and every year thereafter for the life of the ordinance, or a total of over $13,000.

Rau described the project as "a master television receiving antenna designed and erected to serve an entire community."

In a TV cable system, trunk lines are strung along existing utility poles and carry the signals to the service area, he said, and "housings" carry the signal into the subscriber's home.

Rau said Neptune will provide the latest antenna service capable of delivering up to 12 channels of television. He listed Steubenville, Wheeling, four stations in Pittsburgh, three in Youngstown and three in Cleveland. He said an FM radio station could be added in place of a TV station.

Neptune would carry liability insurance to protect the village. The corporation's technicians would be limited to installing and maintaining the cable company's equipment and would not enter into the sale or service of television sets.

The installation charge for home or business would not exceed $4.50 each, and would be subject to reduction if community acceptance warrants.

Home-users rates would be $4.50 per month each for the first outlet and 50 cents per month for each additional outlet. Commercial rates would be $5.25 per month and $1 for first and additional outlet, respectively.

Rau was accompanied by Atty. Robert Paisley of Irondale. Atty. Charles Pike of Lisbon introduced the Neptune representatives.

Philip E. Prasco, 28, of W. Maple St., was approved by Council to become a member of the volunteer fire department. He is an Air Force veteran and is a linotype operator at the Evening Journal office.

Mayor Stockman asked the fire committee — Pike, Steele and Raymond Dixon, to check with the volunteer firemen's ambulance crew about "emergency" calls. The latest bill submitted by the firemen included several runs outside the village in response to calls placed by someone other than local physicians.

The firemen's statement for June through November totaled $492, including $168 for fire runs, $204 for ambulance calls and $120 for maintenance of trucks.

Council and Mayor Stockman signed letters of appreciation to County Engineer Charles O. Snyder and John (Dick) Neill Jr., county highway department superintendent, for their many services to the village. Snyder completes his term of office this month.

Bills of $4,321.14 were read and approved. The next meeting will be held Dec. 28 at 7:30 p.m.

Everything Will Be Investigated

Our sympathy is with the reservists who say Defense Secretary McNamara is going to destroy something they hold almost sacred.

Before the McNamara plan to abolish the Army Reserves, our sympathy was with the personnel of the shipyards and military bases the secretary of defense said he intended to close.

And before that it was with all the people, especially traditionalists, who were phased out by the McNamara policy of streamlining the Department of Defense.

It will continue to be with all these persons who are displaced.

But, provided President Johnson continues to back up his most admired Cabinet member, it also will be with the Johnson administration.

It also will be with the taxpayers of the United States, who have known for a long time that the only relief they could get would have to come through stabilization of military spending.

THE McNAMARA POLICY of streamlining will not bring about any actual reduction in military spending; that is not the purpose.

Instead, if it continues, it will bring about a stabilization of military spending that will have the long-term effect of reduction as the population increases and federal revenue rises.

This is the key money policy of the Johnson administration, as we understand it. It can be carried out only in the form of military cutbacks; there is no other place in government where any substantial saving is possible.

Our heart always will be with people who hate to see the passing of cherished names and the termination of precious traditions.

But our reason in this instance is with the secretary of defense and with President Johnson, who are resolutely doing something as risky as attacking home and mother. They are stirring antagonism not only in deeply vested interests but in some of the most sentimental areas of our American way of life.

All who are affronted either are or shortly will be calling for searching and sweeping investigations of this fellow McNamara who apparently thinks the $50-billion-a-year Department of Defense is no more immune to efficiency than anything else that spends money.

Everything will be investigated. Everything should be investigated. Then, the politicians, sentimentalists and displaced persons willing, Secretary McNamara should be permitted to do what his own investigations have told him needs to be done.

IF PRESIDENT JOHNSON continues to back up Secretary McNamara all the way, the Department of Defense will level off at or about $50 billion a year, instead of going up ad infinitum.

It will not be anything like disarmament. But it will be something like the efficiency that everybody who pays taxes must practice in order to scratch up the $50 billion and more each year the Department of Defense spends.

It will firm up popular confidence in the federal government's ability to control its spending.

Alas, We Are Not Loved

We can be glad the fool who fired a bazooka shell across the East River at the United Nations building last week didn't know his weapon's range and the shot fell short.

We can be glad most of the hymns of hate against the United States sung in the U.N. sessions last week were sung so people back home would think their emissary was earning his strong drink and rich food on his junket to New York City.

We can be glad things like this have the effects of letting hearts and minds filled with venom and distrust empty themselves without causing nations to go to war.

There were times in the not-too-distant past when overt evidence of hostility like shots fired at a building in New York and hate-packed lies uttered where they would do the most damage would have started wars.

Some Americans feel like going to war over them now. Others are so offended they feel like kicking the United Nations off Manhattan Island and forgetting it is a prime element in U.S. hopes for letting people blow off steam in debate instead of firing guns in battle.

Americans are made to realize by this sort of things that they and their country are not loved by all the people whose good will they had hoped to win, or which their government heads hoped to win.

Love never should have been expected—respect, yes, but never love.

There can be no love between nations, only between people.

And when people undertake to speak for nations, as they do in the United Nations, strange things will be heard. They will profess what cannot be—absolute hatred in some cases, which is as ridiculous as absolute love.

Alas, we are not loved by all the people we hoped would love us. But neither are we hated by all the people we fear may hate us.

Our goal should be to have the respect of all the people who both love and hate us.

NATO And Nuclear Force

As the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meets in Paris this week, another moment of truth may come for this beleaguered organization.

NATO has been called a lie that the Russians believed.

It was to consist of 60 ground divisions; half that many still seems to be an unattainable goal.

But if the ground forces proved to be mythical, a greater myth may be in the fabricating—the proposal for a mixed-manned multilateral nuclear force organized within NATO.

Originally, this essentially political force—commonly referred to as MFL—was conceived as a fleet of nuclear-powered submarines equipped with Polaris missiles. The subs were to be manned by crewmen of the various countries.

Now it is imagined as a surface fleet of 25 destroyers or merchant-type ships deployed through the North Atlantic and Mediterranean.

Such a fleet would cost some $2½ billion to create and about $160 million annually to float. The United States and West Germany, only nations to display any real enthusiasm for the concept, would pay the largest share of the bill, with other co-operating nations contributing about a third.

Britain would like to kick in its obsolescent bombers and the rest of its costly independent nuclear capacity—which at the moment doesn't look very valid as a deterrent. This gift might defeat MFL for good.

The central contradiction of MFL is the certainty it would go into action only during a worldwide holocaust. This punch then would merely be added to the overall capability of the United States.

The United States had 475 intercontinental ballistic missiles in 1963, would have 925 ICBMs in 1965. The corresponding figures for Soviet Russia were 100 and 200. Other comparisons: We have 33 nuclear subs, Russia 23. We have 630 long-range bombers, Russia 200.

Washington figures cited by United Press International show the United States has 833 ICBMs—650 Minutemen, 108 Titans, and 95 Atlases. U.S. figures on Polaris are 288 missiles deployed in 18 subs.

Purely Personal

A few years ago we hung our heads because our TV screen wasn't as big as the neighbors' sets. Now it's the other way around. Everybody wants to be the first on his street to own one of the new miniature sets.

Judy Garland makes me uncomfortable. I always wonder whether I am watching the entertainer, or the unhappy person who co-exists with the entertainer. And this makes me sad because I have a special fondness for the entertainer.

This could turn out to be the winter when the snow-blower set, to which I belong by necessity, will keep in practice by starting up the things periodically to fan the air.

In the strict meaning of the word, I am not an "isolationist." But familiarity breeds contempt, and the more we know about our international neighbors and the more they know about us the less we like one another.

There is as much resistance now to popular voting as there was in the Constitutional Convention. We talk about the sovereignty of the dear people, as the Founding Fathers did, but the idea still lingers that some are a darned sight more sovereign than others.

My sympathy lies with President Johnson on the tail-coat issue for the Inaugural

By Truman Twill

Ball, I, too, would settle for dinner jacket, because once in a moment of blind conformity I bought a tail coat and thought of it ever after as an abomination.

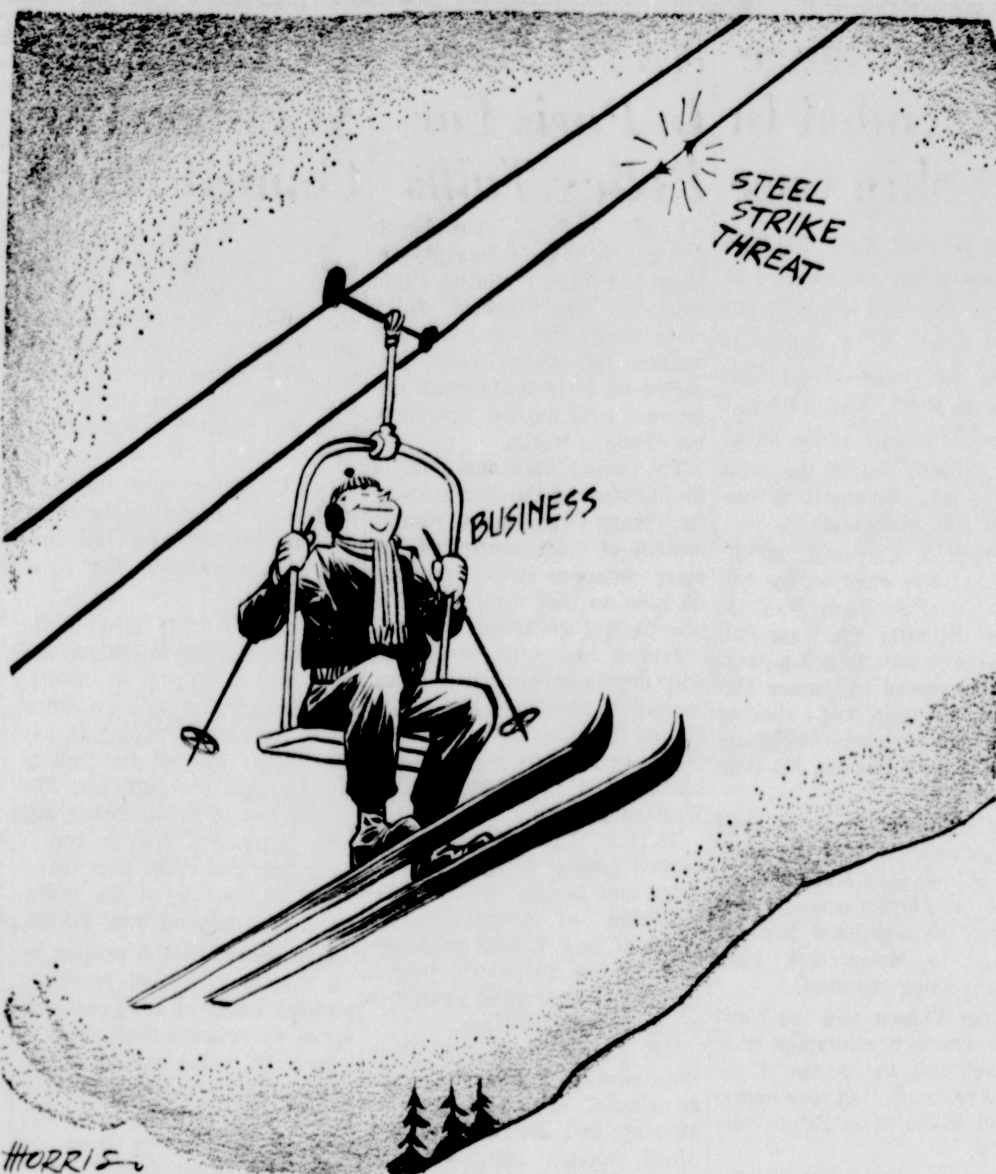

Foreign aid should be given critical scrutiny, to eliminate beneficiaries hostile to the principles and purposes of the United States, and I suggest that my great good government might start with Mississippi.

The lady I share Christmas with has taken a stand against imitation holly wreaths and imitation Christmas trees. She argues that these things must be real or they have no significance. We haven't come to the problem of plastic mistletoe.

If I could afford it I'd buy a gadget advertised for the man who has everything—a box with lights that turn on and off at random for a year, then the whole thing conks out. I would keep this on my desk to look at when nothing else made sense.

We have had to point out to a sibling planning to come home for Christmas with wife and dog that the wife is welcome but the Twillery has three dogs and four would be a crowd, remembering a year ago when only three was a crowd that produced the bloodiest dog fight the spectators never want to see again.

Let's Hope It Doesn't Snap

ILA Would Halt Shipments Again

By Victor Riesel

Four anti-American governments which have permitted U.S. embassies and libraries to be invaded or sacked and burned have received more than $125 billion in virtually free American food, grain and equipment during the last nine years.

Victor Riesel

This U.S. aid, dispatched under Public Law 480, is still flowing into those lands by the scores of millions of dollars, though their governments now are supplying guns and military manpower to the Communist-controlled Congolese rebels.

One of those "neutral" countries, the United Arab Republic, added insult to injury the other day by demanding an additional $35 million worth of free aid—after it permitted a mob to wreck the U.S. Embassy compound in Cairo and burn the U.S. Information Agency Library on Nov. 26.

However, neither Egypt nor the other governments—Algeria, Indonesia and the Sudan—will get a grain of grain if some of the militant International Longshoremen's Association leaders have their way. They can't shift foreign policy but they can ask their people not to "lift that bale."

UNION DOCKWALLOPERS tied up an Algerian-bound grain shipment two years ago in protest against giving wheat to that country when its leader Ben Bella was playing host and pledging support to Fidel Castro in Algeria. And the Longshoremen can do it again.

They can refuse to load this cargo to any government which permits its police and armed forces to stand by while mobs burn thousands of American books and wreck our buildings in foreign capitals.

Conversations with Longshoremen leaders reveal they would take such action immediately. But they now are bound up in last minute negotiations with the ship owners over a new contract. A strike deadline is set for Dec. 20.

ONCE THIS collective bargaining crisis is over, the ILA leaders will go to their national executive board and urge adoption of a boycott of shipments to these lands from all Atlantic and Gulf ports.

"We can't take action now, in the midst of tense negotiations on the wage size of the work force bargaining," Thomas (Teddy) Gleason, ILA president, told this column. "But once this is over we're going to urge our executive board to hit back at what we view with disgust. We don't want wheat to go to those countries which are backing the Congolese rebels, the same sadists who killed the hostages, crunched them to death, murdered nuns, priests and missionaries and forced some of our foreign officers to literally eat an American flag."

"Why should U.S. longshoremen, union men, help get aid to governments which denounce our government and support the grimmest wholesale murder since the Nazi atrocities."

"I know the Longshoremen all right and I know they won't move that stuff," Gleason pointed out that the longshoremen have speeded cargo to the neutral nations involved, but the attacks changed all this. Look at the figures, he urged.

THOSE STATISTICS are startling. Since 1954, the United States has dispatched more than $330 million in surplus foods to Indonesia. In recent weeks the Indonesian police permitted mobs to wreck two U.S. libraries and burn more than 15,000 books.

In the last two years, almost $100 million worth of food and material have gone to Algeria. We have supported the Ben Bella government efforts to pay wages of those on work relief. This has been a direct contribution to help the Algerian laborer.

Yet Premier Ben Bella has dispatched several Soviet-built four-engine turboprop AN-12 military transports with men and arms for the Congolese rebels.

THE SUDANESE government is aiding this operation, though the United States has given the Khartoum government more than $90 million in aid during the last few years. As recently as last March, the U.S. agreed to send the Sudan $13.24 million worth of wheat—and to pay much of the shipping costs during 1964-65.

Egypt, center of the pro-Congolese operation, has gotten more than $735 million from the United States since 1954.

Cairo now receives this U.S. aid at the rate of $140 million annually. And it wants more—riots or no riots.

In reply, Longshoremen say nobody can force them to aid the allies of wholesale murderers.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—John L. Calhoun, a master carpenter of Wellsville, completed construction of a towboat which was to be used for small jobs on the Ohio River.

George Wilson was elected president of the Willing Workers Society of the Second Christian Church.

Mrs. C. D. Grafton and Mrs. Ray Arbaugh, both of Wellsville, attended an Eastern Star meeting in Salem.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—Tommy Mackey, Robert Chadwick and William Bradford, members of Boy Scout Troop 33, were advanced to Life Scouts.

Students of East Liverpool district schools exceeded their pledge quota in the sixth War

Loan drive by more than 50 per cent.

TEN YEARS AGO—In a final report, Alfred Van Dyne, chairman, announced that the city fireman collected $2,026 in a Muscular Dystrophy fund drive.

Historic Jigsaw

It was like working the world's biggest jigsaw puzzle to put the historic hilltop monastery at Cassino, Italy, back together again.

The Abbey of Montecassino was blasted to rubble by U.S. bombers in World War II in the belief that Nazi soldiers were using it as a bastion to pin down the Allies in their grim drive from Anzio to Rome.

After the war had passed, black-robed monks identified each piece of debris as far as possible. Rebuilding began with funds from the Italian government. Hundreds of workers toiled for years to put the surviving material in proper place in the reconstruction of the Benedictine Order's most revered monastery, one so important historically that Italy had made it a national monument in 1866.

Today, the great abbey stands intact, its complex of pale stone buildings, a fifth of a mile long, glistening like a fortress of snow above a green and fertile valley, the National Geographic says.

Montecassino was rededicated by Pope Paul in October 1964, and St. Benedict, who founded the abbey in about A.D. 530, was declared the patron saint of Europe.

This latter-day honor was given St. Benedict because his abbey stood as a small bright island of learning while the rest of Europe sank into the dark sea of barbarism during the early Middle Ages. Later, with the spread of Christianity, the abbey served as a wellspring of religion, civilization and culture.

GOP Rebuilding Job

By David Lawrence

What Do The Dissenters Really Want?

How do you rebuild or remake a national political party? Can it be done by two or three leaders getting together and working out a plan? Or should the members of a political party themselves have a voice in such a reorganization?

Unfortunately, political parties are not set up on a representative basis, so that the citizens who contribute their funds as well as their votes do not usually have an opportunity to select their national leaders. Even the members of the national party committee are not chosen by popular vote except in two states. Thus the problem of rebuilding a party is not easy to solve, especially when there are many conflicting interests as well as various individuals with ambitions to run for the presidency in 1968 or thereafter.

The battle over who is to be the national party chairman is really a drive to unseat Dean Burch as a means of gaining ascendancy in the party organization for henchmen of particular candidates for the 1968 nomination.

There are many men in the party who are really anxious to bring about unity. The conference held among Gen. Eisenhower, former Vice President Nixon and Sen. Goldwater was designed not only to produce harmony in the party but to encourage the members of the national committee to confer with their local leaders and find out just what they wish to do about party policies and Republican activity between elections.

THE REAL TROUBLE with the Republican party is that nobody knows what the dissenters really want. It's difficult to get a good definition of what a "moderate" is, or even an "extremist" or a "conservative" or a "liberal."

Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., of Ohio, said in an interview not so long ago that on some things he is conservative and on other things he is liberal. There is no single phrase that covers the individual viewpoints of most men in public life on the questions of the day.

The important task before the Republicans is to define just what proposals they believe in and what policies of the administration they feel should be opposed. The difficulty of definition is best illustrated by a speech delivered last week.

Any reader who does not know who made the speech, from which excerpts are given below, might guess that perhaps it was delivered by Sen. Goldwater himself.

HERE ARE the essential paragraphs: "Savings represent the hard work and frugality of a lot of people....

"Because these are private savings, it isn't only right but necessary, under the umbrella of wise protective laws, to keep decisions affecting economic policies and actions in the hands of private industry and productive individuals.

"In far too many ways we are heading away from reliance on the citizen's common sense, personal responsibility and freedom of action toward federal domination over almost every phase of our economy.

"This may give to some an immediate sense of material well-being and personal security. But it's dangerous to our future—because it flouts our basic rights, weakens our moral fiber, restricts individual decision and, in the long run, destroys the incentives that have been responsible for our unmatched productivity.

"An over-powerful government can rob a whole people, just as surely as a pickpocket can steal from an individual.

"But the scale is broader, the stakes are greater, and the loss is far more tragic. What is stolen by paternalistic government is that precious compound of initiative, independence, and self-respect that distinguishes a man from an automaton, a person from a number, productive and competitive enterprise from a regimented people.

"Too much government planes off peaks of excellence, hones down differences, dries up competition and leaves a drab and unhappy community where once dwelt thrift, zeal to excel and ambition for human betterment.

"I believe we should set our faces firmly against federal programs that erode away citizen, local and state self-reliance....

"Should it not heed Lincoln's counsel, and intervene in those matters only when individuals and lower echelons of government cannot properly care for them?

"Are we, in our communities and states, to be reduced to helpless bystanders? Do we trust a Washington bureaucrat more than we do ourselves to solve problems that rest on our own doorsteps? Are we just too lazy to act; too blind to see; or too ignorant to understand?"

"The trend toward centralization can be stopped only by a determined people. The best answer for too much government in Washington is better government at home."

THIS SPEECH was delivered on the same day as the conference of the three Republican leaders in New York. It was made not by Sen. Goldwater or by Mr. Nixon, but by the man who was supreme commander of the Allied Armies in Europe in World War II and who served as president of the United States for eight years until Jan. 20, 1961—Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Important Decision

By James Marlow

The Supreme Court unanimously has given its most important civil rights decision since it declared public school segregation unconstitutional 10 years ago. The 1954 decision was also unanimous.

The court Monday upheld the constitutionality of a key section of the much fought-over 1964 Civil Rights Act which forbids racial discrimination in places of public accommodation.

It ruled: hotels and motels must serve all races if their customers or food move in interstate commerce. There may be some exceptions which don't affect interstate commerce. They'll be few. The court didn't spell out details.

The court could have reached its decision in one of two ways or both: the Constitution's commerce clause gives the government power to regulate interstate commerce; the 14th Amendment guarantees all citizens equal treatment.

The court based its decision on the commerce clause. But the road to Tuesday's action was 81 years long.

After the Civil War quick action was taken to give newly freed Negroes equal rights. The 13th Amendment to the Constitution (1865) said they were citizens; the 14th Amendment (1868) said all citizens must get equal treatment; and the 15th (1870) said Negroes could not be denied the right to vote.

Between 1866 and 1875 Congress passed six civil rights acts to carry out the intention of those amendments. One, in 1875, said Negroes must get equal treatment in inns, amusement places and other public accommodations.

This was meant to back up the 14th Amendment. But Negroes were discriminated against. It took them eight years to bring five such cases before the Supreme Court.

The court skipped over the commerce clause which it could have used—the power of the government to regulate interstate commerce—and concentrated on the 14th Amendment's guarantee of equal treatment.

It ruled that the 1875 act forbidding discrimination in public accommodations—under the 14th Amendment's equal protection—only intended to forbid states to pass discriminatory laws. The court held that it didn't apply to individuals, like hotel or theater owners, who were thus left free to discriminate.

But one of those justices in 1883—John Marshall Harlan—dissented. He said an inn-keeper is "charged with certain duties and responsibilities to the public. The public nature of his employment forbids him from discrimination...."

But after the 1883 decision of the court Congress passed no other major legislation against discrimination in public accommodations, until the summer of 1964, even though after the 1883 decision states piled up segregation laws.

Wellsville Board Fills 2 Positions

Posts of custodian and bus driver were filled, and contracts approved for two teachers at the meeting of the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night.

Herman Carl Hurd resigned as custodian of the Beacom Memorial Gymnasium and George Donaldson, 806 Aten Ave., was hired to replace him at a salary of $3,200 a year. Donaldson will be on 90-day probation.

DONALDSON'S name was the last on a Civil Service Commission eligibility list. The commission has been notified and another examination will be held in the near future, tentatively Jan. 7.

Kenneth Delposen, operator of an auto body shop on 10th St., was hired as a bus driver at a salary of $1,325 a year.

The board approved a contract for Daniel Fisher of East Liverpool as an elementary instructor, effective Dec. 20. He has been serving as a substitute. He will teach at Fairview School at Hillcrest.

John Tuttle of Willowick was employed as art instructor effective Feb. 3. He is to graduate from Bowling Green State University.

MRS. HELEN Welch, high school librarian, reported that application has been filed with the Knapp Foundation, with headquarters at Chicago, for a complete new library for the school.

The foundation will grant three new libraries to high schools in the United States. As the requirements call for a teacher training participation phase, the application was co-each district that would be established would be provided special services from one central location.

He reported 13 tapes have been obtained for use in the language laboratory for the instruction in Latin.

The tax rates for the coming year, set by the Columbiana County Budget Commission, were accepted. The total millage is 25.50. This includes 4.6 mills inside the 10-mill limitation, 17.9 mills outside and 3 mills for bond retirement.

THE ESTIMATED tax valuation for Wellsville is $12,731,998. The total millage for the community, including school, city and county taxes, is 36.26.

The board agreed to charge a $5 fee to the students for driver education training.

William Ferrall, board member, said he feels that if the class is crowded, students who already have driver licenses should be eliminated.

The other board members disagreed, contending it should be offered on a first-come, first-served basis as it has in the past. Some students who already have licenses sign for the course to take advantage of a lower auto insurance rate granted those who have completed the course.

If there is enough room, the classroom work may be opened to adults.

THE BOARD renewed its membership in the Ohio School Boards Association at a cost of $120.

Due to a legal technicality involving the contract of Supt. Myers, the motion adopted in July granting him a five-year contract was rescinded. The board then granted him an extension on his old contract through to July 31, 1965, and, in another motion, granted him a five-year contract effective Aug. 1, 1965.

The state examiner pointed out that the old contract had to expire before the board could

Ohio Man Conducting Drive For 'Music Hall Of Fame'

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Spurred by his pride in American music, Art Hostetter is conducting a campaign from his basement-office to establish a "Music Hall of Fame."

His motto is a sign in the basement of his home: "Non Omnis Moriar"—I shall not wholly die. "This music hall of fame would honor the nation's most gifted composers and musicians like the Baseball Hall of Fame," said the 41-year-old father of eight. He started the drive in 1962.

"The hall of fame is still in my basement," said Hostetter, a piano player. "But it's not fancy enough to show to the public."

grant him another. His salary is $11,100 a year.

The board adopted a policy establishing the colors of the gowns for graduating classes. The boys will wear black, the girls white. All will wear orange tassels. The school colors are black and orange. The action was taken because of the indecision of each class as to colors of gowns.

A LETTER was received from Earl Nelson, deputy director for Division 11 of the Highway Department, in regards to the work done on the Route 45 hill. The berm was widened and new guardrails installed.

The board had thanked the department for the work and asked that the blacktop applied along the berm be rolled and a survey made to determine the possibility of widening the road and eliminating some of the

To emphasize his point, Hostetter said of Razaf: "Here is a man who has written so many great tunes, and yet few people know who he is. They know the song and the band who played it, but they usually have no idea who wrote the song that has become a standard in American music annals."

Hostetter has already nominated 12 Americans to his basement shrine. Beside Razaf, they include Vincent Youmans ("Tea for Two"), Leonard Bernstein, John Phillip Sousa, George M. Cohan, Irving Berlin, Richard Rodgers, Cole Porter, Victor Herbert, Jerome Kern, George Gershwin and Stephen Foster.

"All of these men are composers, but the honor is open also to conductors, singers and musicians," Hostetter said.

curves. Nelson said the survey would be made at a later date. The blacktop will be rolled in the spring.

The board will hold its annual reorganization meeting Friday, Jan. 1, at 10 a.m.

Bullock Is Promoted By Power Company

Charles L. Bullock, formerly associated with the East Liverpool office, has been promoted to the position of agricultural sales supervisor in the Ohio Power Co.'s General Office organization.

Bullock, a 42-year veteran with the company, is now division sales manager, being located in Ohio Power's Canton office. He will assume his new duties next March.

Bullock came here in 1941 as division commercial-industrial manager.

West Virginia's 7 Electoral Votes Cast For Johnson

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The people who were really elected in the Nov. 3 presidential voting in West Virginia — Democratic nominees for the seven elector posts — cast the state's seven electoral votes Monday for President Johnson and Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey.

The proceedings in Gov. W. W. Barron's office were part of sessions Monday in 50 states and the District of Columbia which comprised the meeting of the Electoral College.

Results will be sent to Washington where the presidential election process will be completed at a Jan. 6 joint session of Congress.

Last August the West Virginia conventions of the two major parties each picked seven nominees for presidential elector. When the Democrats carried the state for president Nov. 3, this meant the Democratic elector nominees — five men and two women — were elected, although their names did not appear on the ballot.

The seven were Mrs. Edward H. Long of Huntington, Mrs. Clara M. Lincoln of Institute, Alfred F. Chapman of Wheeling, Clarence Johnson of Morgantown, Raymond R. Humphreys of Charleston, Felix M. Brown of Pliny, Putnam County, and Paige Wooldridge of Bluefield.

'Life Of Riley' Fame

Actor William Bendix Dies Of Pneumonia

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor William Bendix is dead. And so, in a way, is Chester A. Riley, the pug-faced, soft-hearted factory worker he made famous in television, radio and the movies.

Bendix succumbed Monday at Los Angeles Good Samaritan Hospital to lobar pneumonia, complicated by a stomach ailment. He was 58.

At his bedside were his wife of 37 years, Therese, 58; daughters Stephanie, 20, and Lorraine, 30, and Mrs. Alan Ladd, with whose late actor husband Bendix once starred.

During his career, Bendix played characters ranging from brutal villains to everybody's pal.

To millions of fans of "The Life of Riley" television show, Bendix' death was a double loss. It removed Chester Riley, the harried father.

Bendix was once admitted to an interviewer: "Chester Riley and Bill Bendix are alike in a lot of ways."

"Bill's bluff manner doesn't let outsiders know what he is like at all. He has all the kindness and desire to help others that Riley is noted for. Sometimes, when I watch a Riley show, I say to myself, 'You'd think the writers lived with us.'"

Like Riley, Bendix was a bit of a failure in the beginning.

Born in New York City Jan. 14, 1906, he flopped as a bat boy for the New York Giants — his mother wouldn't let him go out for spring training. He didn't do much better as a semi-pro baseball player, singing waiter and grocer.

His debut on the boards at 16, at the local church and the Eagles Lodge.

Besides his mother, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mary Fennell of Youngstown and Miss Carolyn Slagle at home; two sons, Pfc. Edward Slagle of Ft. Storey, Va., and Dean Slagle at home; three sisters, Mrs. David Crissman of Templeton, Pa., Mrs. Maxine Krulia of Ford City and Mrs. Milford Thomas of Kittanning; two brothers, Harold Slagle of Negley and David Slagle of Clarksburg, Pa., and three grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 at the Van Dyke Funeral Home by Dan Davis, minister of the Church of as a member of the Henry Street Settlement House players, wasn't notable.

Bendix knew his wandering nose and beer keg physique would never qualify him as a matinee idol.

"I'm about as handsome as a mud fence," he once remarked. But the strength and sincerity underneath the craggy exterior transformed him from character actor to star.

He was frightening in Eugene O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape," tough as the brutal first mate in "Two Years Before the Mast."

Bendix underwent surgery for stomach ulcers in 1955.

Bendix and his wife had been living in Palm Desert until he was brought to Good Samaritan Hospital Dec. 8.

Funeral services are tentatively scheduled for Thursday in suburban Van Nuys.

Christ. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

County Boy Among 7 Fleeing State School

LISBON — Lester N. Davis, 16, sentenced from Columbiana County, was among seven listed in a rash of escapes from the newly-named but old and overcrowded Fairfield School for Boys at Lancaster Monday, apparently as a result of the holiday season.

Five escaped early in the morning and two more made it in early evening.

The terms they were serving at the institution, formerly called Boys Industrial School, ranged from auto theft and intoxication to assault.

The Ohio Highway Patrol identified the boys.

According to Juvenile County records, Davis was sentenced Feb. 4 for delinquency for intoxication. He was in court first in April 1963 and placed on probation, then was cited into court again last January. He resided at Wellsville.

Note to new cooks: "self-rising flour" is flour with the addition of salt and leavening ingredients.

Crashes Hurt 2 In District

A district woman and Negley area man received minor injuries in two of three area traffic mishaps Monday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Mrs. Clarence Boston, 39, of Echo Dell Rd. was treated at City Hospital for possible injuries to the right wrist received in a collision at Calcutta at 2:20 p. m.

Officers said Mrs. Boston was headed east on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. and a car operated by Paul Francis Monte, 28, of Negley R. D. 1 was headed south on Route 170 when they collided at the intersection.

Mrs. Boston was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Arthur William Grossen, 50, of Negley R.D. 1 received a bruised leg when his car veered off Route 344 near Franklin Square and struck a guardrail.

The patrol said Grossen's 1956 sedan went out of control on a downhill curve. He was charged with speeding.

Arthur Richard Foerster, 43, of Elizabethtown, Pa., and Velma Rose Brewer, 30, of Lakewood escaped injury when their cars sideswiped on Route 7 about 2.5 miles south of Rogers yesterday morning.

Foerster was passing the woman's car when both struck an icy area and skidded, sideswiping.

sociates of Pittsburgh and Columbus under contract with the city.

Ziegler said the first segment will cover the history and evolution of the city, its terrain, population trends and other factors. Don Eckert, chairman, said the public will be invited to attend the January meeting to listen to the report and offer criticism and suggestions.

A draft of suggested zoning regulations also is being printed and should be ready for the January meeting, Ziegler said. Work on a land use and zoning report should be finished next month and be ready for presentation in February, he added.

The commission tentatively designated members to serve with committees that will evaluate various segments of the report as they are completed. The members and the committees with which they will serve are:

Rea, subdivision controls and parks, recreation and historic sites; Hall, land use and zoning; Parsons, schools; George Steele, housing and public works program; E. L. Wheatley, public buildings; Eckert, central business area; Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, community services, and Vodrey and Eckert, transportation.

The mayor reported he is working out a new form for building permits in which applicants will be required to obtain clearance with the city engineer's office at the availability of sewers at the site; the water and sewage departments and the fire, police and income tax departments.

"They just come in now and plunk down a dollar and get a permit," the mayor said. "Under the new system, none of the agencies directly concerned can say that they did not know of plans for a building project."

The mayor explained the building permit fee now is $1 "whether it's a $50 remodeling job or a $100,000 factory." Some communities base fees on the value of the project and the various inspections that will be necessary, he said.

Eckert reported approximately 800 forms were returned in a household survey made as part of the "master plan" study. But results were "very poor" in an attempted study of businessman and the central shopping area, he commented.

Some businessmen ignored the forms completely and some of the reports still are trickling in, he said. Part of the difficulty apparently arose from the fact the businessmen were not advised fully on the purpose of the survey, he said.

Palestine Board Fills

Negley Teacher Post

EAST PALESTINE — The East Palestine Board of Education Monday night hired Miss Anna Kay Myers of Enon Valley R.D. 1 as a third grade teacher at the Negley School, starting in mid-January.

A graduate of Geneva College, she will replace Mrs. Robert Johnston, who was given a year's leave of absence.

The board approved the 1965 tax rates, including 15.1 mills outside the 10-mill limitation, bringing in some $342,000 annually for operations, and 5.3 mills inside the 10-mill limitation, producing some $85,000 for bond retirement. The total is 20.4 mills.

The Louisiana Purchase of 1803 added 830,000 square miles to the United States and almost doubled its size, National Geographic says. For $15 million, Napoleon parted with all French lands from the Mississippi Delta to modern Montana.

The board approved the hiring of Mrs. Carolyn Hepler of Salineville R. D. 1, as school nurse effective Dec. 2, filling a vacancy, at $14 a day.

In other action, the board approved joining of the Ohio School Board Association for 1965, agreed to test on a trial basis a used 21-cubic foot freezer for the high school which is offered by Clyde Crook for $150, and set the reorganization meeting Jan. 2.

Installation of a mercury vapor light for the east front of the high school was authorized, along with a resolution to request Title III aid for biology equipment and other items.

A request by a Franklin area parent for pickup of students at a site closer to their home will be studied by the board. The next regular meeting will be held Jan. 11.

Plane Lost Between London, Paris

Vanishing Of Bandleader In 1944 Still Mystery

LONDON (AP) — Twenty years ago today Glenn Miller took off in a single-engine plane for France — and vanished.

The disappearance of the gifted American bandleader and trombonist remains as deep a mystery now as it was on Dec. 15, 1944.

One of the last persons to see Miller was Jack Hylton, the not reported until 12 days later. A terse communique said an intense search over the plane's intended 160-mile route had yielded no clues.

"Lost," said the communique, "presumed dead."

Waters of the English Channel were searched but no wreckage was found.

Miller's disappearance fostered rumors which still circulate.

These ranged from the belief that the Germans shot down his plane to the theory that he crashed in France and, an amnesia victim, died later, unrecognized.

"I certainly don't know what happened to him," says Hylton, "but on that night he did keep saying that he wanted to get near the fighting and that he was going to do his damndest to get a peek at it. But who really knows?"

Play Presented By Auxiliary Of Medical Society

An original play, "Is This Your Day, Doctor?", featured the Christmas dinner party of the auxiliary of the Columbiana County Medical Society Sunday evening at the Country Club. Seventy were present, including members of the society as guests.

The play was written by a committee headed by Mrs. H. F. Banfield, and also Mrs. Charles Gerace, president. A song, "We Love the Doctors, Ho! Ho!", also written by the committee, was sung.

Dr. Stephen Sinclair, who played the part of Santa Claus, distributed the gifts. Mrs. Gerace introduced the guests, including Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Michels Jr. of Cleveland, Dr. Janis Lauva, president of the Medical Society; Dr. Peter Cibula of Lisbon, 1965 president, and Dr. Edith Gilmore, 1965 president-elect. Committee members were also recognized by Mrs. Gerace.

Prizes were presented to the doctors and their wives.

The main table featured an arrangement of pines around a large red candle, and other tables were decorated with poinsettias, pine and red candles.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 19 at the home of Mrs. Cibula of Lisbon.

Senate Resolution Cited

Ohio's Reapportionment Subject Getting Hotter

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS — Legislative reapportionment, a hot subject when the 105th General Assembly was called into special session, is getting hotter by the day.

At the center of the latest in a series of controversies in the Ohio Senate is a resolution petitioning Congress to call a Constitutional Convention on reapportionment.

Its intent is to force amendment of the U.S. Constitution to permit one house of a bicameral legislature to seat its members on a basis other than population. Democrats and at least two Republicans in the Senate oppose it.

Legislatures of 16 southern and western states already have approved similar resolutions. It will take 18 more to have the two-thirds needed to demand the Constitutional Convention.

There has been no U. S. Constitutional Convention since the first one and it apparently would be up to Congress to devise a way of selecting delegates.

If the amendment proposed by the states were approved, it would have to be ratified by three-fourths (38) of the 50 state legislatures within 7 years to be effective.

Republicans here see the proposal as a way of countermanding the U.S. Supreme Court which has ruled both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned according to population.

It was this ruling that knocked out Ohio's so-called Hanna Amendment which guaranteed every county at least one representative regardless of its population. And it was this ruling which forced this special session of the legislature to come up with a new plan for doling out seats in the house.

This plan, which now has passed both houses and which will be up for voter approval in May, establishes 69,000 as the minimum population a county can have and still retain one representative.

But it leaves to the discretion of a seven-member apportionment board the combination of thinly-populated counties into legislative districts. And it lets this board determine which counties under 69,000 population are "substantially equal" to that minimum.

The effect of the plan would be to increase representation of metropolitan counties and diminish rural representation.

The call for the Constitutional Convention is similar to one which was offered during the regular session of the legislature in 1963. It proposed an amendment barring federal court intervention in legislative reapportionment.

It died in committee, buried by an avalanche of adverse comment by most of Ohio's press.

The Senate resolution, offered by Sens. Robin Turner, R-Tiffin, and Max Dennis, R-Wilmington, is identical to the one written last week by the Council of State Governments in Chicago.

Virginia is the only state which has adopted it in that form. The other states which have called for a Constitutional Convention on reapportionment are Arkansas, Idaho, Kansas, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

Should the amendment ever be adopted, Ohio would be geared to revert immediately to its system of at least one representative per county.

For in drafting the reapportionment resolution already passed by this session, House leaders were careful to leave the Hanna Amendment intact in the state constitution, even though it has been held unconstitutional.

Southern Local's Band To Present Christmas Event

The annual Southern Local High School Band Christmas concert will be held Thursday night at 8 in the high school auditorium.

Oscar Gartrell, director, said selections will be played by the senior high school band, the junior high band and dance band. Highlights will include a flute quintet playing "Dance des Mirlitons." It is comprised of Pam Wright, Marsha Adams, Alice Brown, Pam Stalder and Susan Ralston.

A duet, "Trumpeters' Prayer," will be played by Roseann Smith and Kenneth Brown.

A trombone quintet — Susan Hirst, Georgianne Brown, Donna Fields, Tomlin Heiney and Diane Adams — will present "Trombone Troubadours."

The senior band will conclude the program with "White Christmas."

Three Drivers Fined At Arfman Hearings

Two drivers were fined for speeding and a third for false registration by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine Monday.

Fined $15 and costs for speeding were Arthur H. Bosworth of 1184 Erie St. and Donald A. Sattler of Rogers R. D. 1.

Edward L. Bishop of 255 Drain St. was fined $50 and costs — with $45 suspended — for false registration.

Philadelphia Invites Band To Come Back

A letter of "thanks" was received by Vincent Maola Jr., director, Tuesday afternoon from Christian T. Mattie, parade director for the city of Philadelphia, who extended the open invitation.

Court Sifts Hoffa's Plea In Tampering

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The fate of James R. Hoffa's appeal of his jury-tampering conviction is in the hands of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today, but a decision is not expected for some time.

The controversial president of the Teamsters Union sat through five hours of arguments Monday by four defense attorneys and two government lawyers.

Hoffa held a news conference afterward but refused to discuss the appeal proceedings, because it would be a "discourtesy to the judges who heard my appeal."

Hoffa left for Chicago Monday night to attend a teamsters meeting.

The appeals court is expected to take weeks — or even months — before ruling if the conviction handed down March 5 in U.S. District Court at Chattanooga, Tenn., should be upheld or reversed.

Hoffa, free under $75,000 bond, was convicted with three other men of trying to influence the jurors in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville, Tenn. He was sentenced to eight years and fined $10,000 after his conviction in Chattanooga.

The other defendants, also appealing, were sentenced to three years each. They are Edwin King, former head of the Nashville Teamsters; Larry Campbell, business agent of Teamsters Local 299 in Detroit; and Thomas E. Parks of Nashville, the only defendant not present for the appeal arguments.

A women's telephone campaign is also planned for the week prior to the special election.

Fifteen attended the meeting at which Dr. Arthur Cloran, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be held Jan. 6.

Burgess Meredith, Principal

Burgess Meredith will take over Dean Jagger's costarring role on NBC's "Mr. Novak."

The surprising news came out of Hollywood, where the veteran stage and movie actor had gone to appear before the "Mr. Novak" cameras in a guest-starring role for a two-part Richard Doan episode now being filmed. Only last month, Meredith returned to the Broadway stage for the first time in eight years, in the starring role of a new play, Edwin O'Connor's "I Was Dancing."

Meredith portrayed a retired vaudevillian. The show ran two weeks and folded.

ROBERT M. WEITMAN, studio head of MGM which produces "Mr. Novak," announced that Meredith initially had been signed only for the two episodes.

He is portraying a teacher named Martin Woodridge, who comes to help the show's star, James Franciscus, and other faculty members of the high school depicted in the story, in staging a "Faculty Follies."

The plan now will be to write into the story line that Woodridge is named principal, succeeding Albert Vane, the character played by Jagger.

Jagger left the series a week ago on doctor's orders to take a long rest because of an ulcer. Because episodes are filmed ahead, Jagger still will be seen for some weeks. Meredith may not turn up until late January or February.

BATTERED but outwardly undaunted, Pat Weaver, whose California pay-TV service got the boot from that state's voters last month, has moved his home and headquarters back to New York.

From his Manhattan offices of Subscription Television, the former NBC board chairman insisted that the California debacle is not a setback that can't be overcome, that he feels as strongly as ever about the ultimate development of pay-TV as a national service.

"My 1965 plan," he said confidently, "will be to try to put together a new effort, maybe with new partners, or to put STV in with other going concerns."

HE EXPECTS to meet, for instance, with RKO General, which runs the Hartford pay-experiment, and Paramount, which long has had a pilot system going in a Toronto suburb.

"I'm going to these other people in the business and say, 'Don't get scared. Don't run for the woods. Let's look things over and decide on the next step."

Sure, we've had a setback. But now's the time to stand up and be counted. Are you with us? If so, let's go!"

Specifically, what does he have in mind?

"You'll have to come back later for the specifics," Weaver replied. Maybe in a couple of months, he indicated.

IS THERE any chance STV might try to set up a pay-TV service in New York City, as he suggested last fall in the event California outlawed his operation? Too soon to say, he said.

If the courts ultimately overthrow the California ban in legal actions brought by STV, will the company resume where it left off in Los Angeles and San Francisco?

Although Weaver recalled that STV had promised Californians, "We'll be back," he reported he is now in the process of "closing out" the California subsidiary set up to run the two-city operation.

STV's short-lived programming reached subscribers in the two California cities over telephone lines. There were three channels in simultaneous operation. Viewers were billed monthly for each show they watched, at prices usually ranging from 50 cents to $1.50 per program.

WEAVER now talks of making one channel a "flat-rated" service, at $5 monthly, and another channel a "blockbuster" for important shows which would be transmitted on an over-the-air UHF "delivery system." He envisions use of microwave to reach areas not easily serviced by cable.

Weaver said he welcomes the opportunity he now has "to do some thinking." He believes the California experiment "90 per cent brilliant," and says he thinks STV has a "real future."

Where, and when, and how, are for another day to say.

OKs Stadium Lease

CLEVELAND (AP) — City Council approved the Cleveland Indians' lease for the stadium Monday night and voted to spend $185,000 for a new baseball press box and $55,000 for box seats, plumbing and other improvements.

In another sports-minded action, Council unanimously approved a resolution asking the Cleveland Browns and the National Football League to televise the Dec. 27 championship game in Cleveland. Browns' president Arthur B. Modell said Monday that he would oppose any plans for any television broadcast of the game within the 75-mile area. He said he felt it would be unfair to ticket-purchasers to learn at a later date that they would be able to watch the action on TV at home.

Board To Air Band Student Bus Service

The Midland Board of Education Monday night was confronted with the problem of providing rides home for Midland Heights band students left without transportation after late practice at the high school.

A delegation of mothers from the Heights area urged that some arrangements be made to haul the students, who now are forced to find their way home after practice beyond regular school hours.

Edward Cilli, president, and board members said they were unaware that the situation existed, and promised to see if a solution could be reached.

Michael Raich, chairman of the educational committee, along with Supt. Edgar Richards were asked by Cilli to look into the problem. About 17 students of the area are affected.

The board received a liability inspection report from the Insurance Company of North America, which recently checked the school buildings, and a report on the boiler systems in schools from the Hartford Steam Boiler Co.

Both were referred to the property committee, Richards and Samuel Rosatone, superintendent of maintenance, for recommendations.

A premium payment of $2,732.17 to the McGeehan Agency for institutional insurance on the school system, and additional compensation to Robert Fleming, band director, for his extra evening appearances at home basketball games, were approved.

The board received a copy of the resolution of the Beaver County Board of Education relative to a community college and voted on an accompanying questionnaire.

John Shovlin, a board member, was re-elected as representative to the Pennsylvania State Educational Association's Legislative Council.

Atty. Ralph F. Scalare of Midland was approved as speaker for commencement exercises June 8, and Richards was authorized to sign a contract with Idora Park of Youngstown for the annual school picnic June 2.

After Rosatone reported that children of the 7th St. area had been breaking up ice in the skating rink at the playground, and throwing debris in the wa-

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

Womp imprisons the Prince in a magic circle drawn in the snow. Then he puts on the magic shoes and leaves for Fairyland to cast a spell over Santa Claus.

CHAPTER 10

At dawn the turtle and the Snowman arrived in Fairyland. While they waited for the Prince to arrive they removed their magic shoes, for Tweedledees had told them the shoes were good only for a one-way trip to Fairyland. They threw the shoes away and gazed around them, speechless.

They were in a place of enchantment where the sun shone every day and flowers bloomed all year long.

"I shall melt!" thought the Snowman worriedly.

But he didn't because Fairyland is a place where the weather is neither hot nor cold but always just right for every creature who comes there.

FAIRIES AND elves and pixies romped among the flowers. Storybook characters sat under the trees and told tales, old and new. Strange insects gossiped together and animals who had always feared each other were friends today in Fairyland.

All around were the sights and sounds of the Christmas Music Festival that was about to begin. Instruments were being tuned and voices tried out. Some musicians rushed about nervously pulling their hair. Others stood muttering to themselves. Still others stamped their feet in time to tunes beating in their heads.

George began to shake with excitement. So many musicians! Could he possibly perform as well as they? He was sure he could. He longed to throw back his head this very minute and show how beautifully he could sing, how golden the tone of his voice.

But where was the Prince? George turned his head this way and that, searching. What could have happened to him? A sudden trickle of fear caused him to shiver.

ter before it had a chance to freeze, the board decided not to flood the rink again until the vandalism ceases.

Cilli said it is impossible to police the area 24 hours a day, and if the children decide to "police the area themselves" the water will again be let into the rink. A notice will be posted in the schools, he said.

Rosatone also reported a leak in the roof at the 7th St. School. Letters were received from the Brighton Township Pop Warner Midget Football League, thanking the board for use of the Midland football field for championship game this year. Interim orders during November in the amount of $1,913.80 were ordered paid and the Carnegie Library Board of Trustees was authorized to purchase books for $192.13.

The report of Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, was ordered filed as was Tax Collector Rudolph Presutti's report for November.

Cash receipts totaling $277.75

Santa had heard of the turtle's voice.

"Look yonder!" whispered the Snowman suddenly. "He's coming!"

With a sigh of relief, George turned. But instead of the Prince here was Santa Claus coming down the path. He was short and fat and dressed all in red. He was jolly and smiling and as happy as if the Music Festival were something he had been looking forward to for a hundred years, as indeed he had!

HE CAME straight up to George and the Snowman and said, "Welcome! Have you come to the Festival to perform?"

The Snowman said shyly, "I've come to listen. George has come to sing."

"Ah, said Santa nodding at the turtle, 'I've heard of you! I love a good voice and I am looking forward to your performance. In fact, just to start things off right I shall put you down to sing first.' He took out a notebook and began to write down George's name.

But George said, "Please, if you don't mind, I'd like to wait for my friend, Prince Chad."

Then he told Santa how the Prince had come all the way from Razenpie to see Santa and get his help for the people in his kingdom. He told how Patrick Tweedledees had given them the magic shoes to get to Fairyland and how all the Prince had to do was put them on and he would be there.

"I'm so afraid something bad has happened," he ended anxiously.

"Nonsense," said Santa cheerfully. "We'll put you down for number 15. By that time the Prince will be here and you can sing your best."

He wrote George's name down opposite number 15 and then he called all the musicians together and said, "Let's begin!" He led the way to the Fairy Queen's garden where the Queen was waiting on her throne. Santa sat beside her in a red-cushioned rocking chair. All the elves and pixies and animals and storybook folk settled on the grass around them.

As the festivities were about to begin there was a small commotion at the back of the garden. A latecomer had arrived.

George looked eagerly over his shoulder, sure the Prince had come at last. But it wasn't the Prince. It was Womp, cloaked in black and carrying a flute in his hands.

1 Killed, 2 Injured As Truck Rams Car

ST. MARYS, Ohio (AP)—A 38-year-old Celina woman, Millie Reynolds, was killed Monday when the car in which she was riding was rammed by a tractor-trailer rig as the auto backed onto Ohio 29 west of here.

Injured were the driver of the car, Ernest Ginter, 20, Defiance, and a second passenger, Edward Byerly, 17, Rt. 1, Celina. They were hospitalized at St. Rita's hospital in Lima. The truck driver, Robert Bell, 39, of Frankfort, Ind., was unhurt.

Parking Step Fails Support At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — A move to enforce one - side parking restrictions along Main St. to reduce reported traffic congestion failed to obtain Council support Monday night.

Mrs. Kate Weaver, member, said she has received a number of complaints about parking on both sides of the narrow thoroughfare, and said there have been a number of accidents recently attributed to the congestion.

She filed a motion to purchase no parking signs for the street and have police enforce one side parking. However, there was no second to her motion.

Council took under study a request for a $5 monthly pay increase from Herman Dixon, caretaker of the dump operated by the village and Washington Township.

Council authorized a $350 contract with Fred Polen to widen and straighten a curved area of an alley abutting the Paul Jakubowski property on Station Hill. Polen will also install sewer pipe provided by the village. The project is to be completed by Jan. 1.

Council also authorized Mayor Stanley Fitch to seek bids for wiring and installation in the Council room of two large fluorescent light fixtures, contributed by Southern Local School officials from the abandoned Salineville grade school.

Mayor Fitch reported Mrs. Earl Laney, wife of the police chief, has requested wiring improvements in their Village Hall apartment.

It was reported the new ash spreader has been installed and in use, and two new tires purchased and installed on the police cruiser.

Mayor Fitch said the Civil Defense truck was not turned over to the County CD headquarters as directed because the vehicle is not in operating condition. He said the truck will be towed to a garage this week and repaired for delivery.

Councilman Don Lewis reported on the cracked boiler at the fire station. He said one heating contractor believes the steam system would have to be dismantled to determine the repair costs. Lewis was instructed to obtain another bid on a used boiler.

Paul Sweeney of Station Hill asked about disposition of a traffic citation made against him in November from which Mayor Fitch disqualified him-

Extradition Is Sought For Ohio Jail Escapee

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP)—Hamilton County, Ohio, Sheriff Dan Tehan says he is having extradition proceedings initiated to bring Roger J. Tucker, 20, back to Cincinnati. Tucker escaped from Tehan's jail last Thursday—the first prisoner to do so since 1952 when a man was carried out of the jail in a garbage can.

Tucker's escape was more casual. He impersonated another prisoner due to be released an hour later and simply walked out of the jail. The Cincinnati man was being held on a charge of burglary. He was arrested Sunday in his native Burnside, Ky., and has refused to waive extradition. He is in Palaski County jail here.

Legal opinions indicated Eugene Jarvis, Council president, could not hear the case, Mayor Fitch will confer with Sweeney Thursday night concerning the charge.

Requests for street repairs were referred to Pete Growell, street supervisor.

Fitch swore in Warren Dunlap as a new councilman. He was appointed last month to replace Clyde Polen.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The woman who described herself as "a mother who sacrificed everything for her children and received nothing in return" is responsible for my first letter to a newspaper.

It's my observation that these self-styled sacrificing mothers make emotional cripples out of their children. Their favorite theme is, "Look what I've done for you. Now do something for me."

The "sacrificing mom" attaches herself like a barnacle. If a child shakes loose and becomes independent, "sacrificing mom" tries to make him feel guilty for "neglecting" her.

My mother was one of those "sacrificers." It took years of therapy to straighten me out. I vowed if I ever had children I never would make them feel obligated to me. And I've kept that vow. I ask my children for nothing, yet they are attentive, considerate and loving.

Please, Ann Landers, keep telling mothers to live their own lives and leave their children alone. What more can parents ask than that their children are also their friends?—NO STRINGS ATTACHED.

Dear No Strings: You have given your children a legacy of straight thinking to hand down to their children. How wonderful for all of you.

Button Popper

Dear Ann: You are no friend to women, believe me. I almost dropped my eyeglasses in my coffee cup when I read your attack on wives who sometimes overlook a missing shirt button. I'm beginning to wonder if YOU have all your buttons, Ann Landers.

It so happens that my husband is an absolute nut about his shirts, so I check them carefully before I place them in the drawer. But what can I do when he puts on a shirt and a button pops off?

Last week it happened twice and you could have heard him hollering a block away. He refuses to admit he has put on weight and that his collars are getting tight.

Unfortunately, I'm not a fortuneteller and I can't tell from looking at button whether it's going to be equal to the strain. Please set my husband straight.—SWEET ADELINE.

Dear Addie: Sorry, Doll, but you don't need a crystal ball to check a button. All you need is a couple fingers. When you feel a weak little fella hanging by a few threads, get busy. A stitch in time can save more than nine. It can save a big fat fight.

Emotional Problem

Dear Ann: My 12-year-old son is missing out on so much boyhood fun it is heartbreaking.

Danny never would go to camp or spend a night away from home because he wets the bed. When we go to visit relatives I carry a rubber sheet along, which is very embarrassing for him.

I have taken Danny to two doctors and they can find nothing physically wrong with him. I've tried pills, alarm devices and a dozen things advertised. Nothing works. A few friends who have had the same problem tell me Danny will outgrow it.

Why would a child almost in his teens still wet the bed? What can be done?—HELP HELP HELP.

Dear H.H.H.: Now that the doctors have ruled out the possibility of a physical problem, face up to the fact that Danny's bed wetting is a symptom of an emotional problem.

He is troubled about something and needs special counseling. Ask the school principal to direct you.

Your friends are right when they say Danny eventually will outgrow it. But outgrowing a symptom is not the same as solving the problem and this should be your objective.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Selection Of Gifts Can Be A Problem

When the first child approaches his first birthday celebration his parents may want to make it a great event. So there must be a goodly number of toys; likewise, for his first Christmas.

The next birthday and Christmas must bring him more gifts. So it goes with the Dr. Garry Myers next child and so on. As each child grows older more gifts usually are planned and he expects more and more gifts. Yet the family income may not have increased proportionately.

Typically it's with the first child in his early years when the pattern tends to be set for the number of gifts and the amount of money spent for them. Grandparents and other relatives often help set these patterns.

THE PARENTS, trying to keep within their means may buy more fragile and inexpensive gifts while increasing the number of them.

It is not easy for us parents to go back and suddenly reduce the number of gifts. We might, however, in taking stock, resolve not to let ourselves raise the sights further. The hope of lessening this problem is to keep reasonably low the number of gifts for the first baby and for each added child.

Instead of putting emphasis on quantity and number of gifts, we might dwell more on quality—on durability of each gift and on what value it will have for the youngster. In choosing gifts for our child at any age, indeed, let us parents ask ourselves whether it is better to provide him with a few good useful gifts than with many inferior ones.

Also we need to ask ourselves if the child will profit from having many gifts of any kind all at once. Will he be overwhelmed by so many? Will they discourage his concentrating; make him scatter-brained?

HERE ARE some questions we should ask ourselves in choosing a gift for a child: Is it suited to his age? Is it too 'old' or too 'young' for him? Can he operate and enjoy it without help? Will he be able to enjoy it alone? May he also enjoy some of the gifts with other children? Will it seem too infantile for him? After the child is eight or ten, his parents, over-eager to get him playthings may select those suited to a much younger child, just because they are cheap and easy to find.

How long will the gift last? For how many months or years will he enjoy it? (Good books loom high in answer to this question). Is he likely to experiment, invent and create with it alone or in connection with other things he has? Will it stimulate his imagination? What further educational value might it have for him beyond mere amusement?

We need to watch ourselves or we are easily lured by playthings which are glamorous, especially those which are huge but are miniatures of things for the adult world—large machines, dolls, and stuffed creatures approaching life-size, such as bride and groom. Consider how limited are the uses of such gifts. Ponder the comparative value for a child of a huge stuffed bear or doll with several smaller ones he can enjoy in so many more ways.

OF SIMILAR types are dolls and machines which can slightly imitate a human being. How quickly the attraction of all such robots wanes. A further problem is the danger of cultivating selfishness in the child by always giving him so much. How may we encourage his wish to bear gifts to other members of the family and other persons?

My bulletins, "Stimulate Your Child's Imagination" and "The Very Selfish Child" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Giardello Wins On Strong Finish

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was like the old matador against the young, dangerous bull.

Middleweight champion Joey Giardello came perilously close to being gored but he called on every trick he learned in 16 years of pro battling to beat strong Rubin (Hurricane) Carter in his first title defense Monday night.

A rousing finish in the last five rounds of the 15-rounder earned the crafty, 34-year-old champion the unanimous decision over the muscular, 27-year-old second-ranking contender from Paterson, N.J., at Convention Hall.

Giardello was cut over the left eye and shaken by a jolting left hook in the fourth round. Carter had his big chance in that round but he blew it. Giardello absorbed several other solid left hooks to the jaw from his ever-threatening foe but Pal Joey always managed to slip away from the brink of disaster. There were no knockdowns.

"If I only could have made him fall," said Carter. "Just once, if I could have made him fall. That was the difference. I won it clear — at least 9 to 6 — but a fall would have clinched it."

"I had him on the hook but let him get off. He's cagey and takes a helluva punch. Look at the great fighters he's fought and none have put him down for the count."

"He fought my fight and didn't press as I expected him to press," said Giardello. "He didn't fight inside and made it easy for me. That had a lot to do with it."

This was Giardello's first title defense since he won the crown from Nigeria's Dick Tiger on an upset decision at Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963.

He had only two non-title outing with Rocky Rivero. Now with eight straight victories to his credit, he plans to cash in with a couple of more non-title fights. Then he said he would like to meet the winner of a bout between No. 1 contender Joey Archer of New York and Tiger.

Archer beat both Tiger and Carter on controversial decisions in New York.

slip of his head or a slight move backwards or to the side. Carter landed his share of punches but Giardello scored with more.

The officials had Giardello the winner by the following point scores, based on the five points a round: referee Bob Polis, 72-66; judge James Mina, 71-66; and judge Dave Beloff, 70-67. The Associated Press scorecard had Giardello a narrow winner, 69-68.

In rounds the scores were Polis 9-3-3, Beloff 8-5-2, and Mina 9-4-2. The AP had it 7-5-3.

A ringside poll showed a 15-5 majority for Giardello.

Carter entered the ring a 6-5 favorite after being a 7-5 underdog at the weigh-in. Giardello weighed 160 pounds — the exact middleweight limit — to Carter's 158½.

Giardello's record is 97-22-7, Carter's 20-5.

Howe's Slump Has Detroit Club Worried

By BILL HALLS

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, the slope-shouldered all-time National Hockey League scorer, is in a slump, and the Detroit Red Wings are worried about it.

The last time the 36-year-old right-winger put the puck through the net was Nov. 14. That was against the Montreal

MORGANTOWN — West Virginia University's freshman basketball team racked up its seventh straight victory Monday night by trampling Westminster, Pa., 94-64.

Ron Williams led the scoring with 25 points for the WVU frosh.

Canadiens' goalie, Charlie Hodge. It made Howe the all-time NHL scorer with 627 regular-season and playoff goals, eclipsing Maurice (The Rocket) Richard's record.

Since then, Howe has played 659 minutes and 40 seconds without a goal.

"It's starting to get me," said Howe after the Wings lost 5-0 to the Black Hawks in Chicago Sunday night. "I wish I could get something so I could help the team."

Manager-coach Sid Abel glanced at the statistics sheet. "Look at that," he said. "Howe had 10 shots on the net. Nobody else was close to him. Bobby Hull and five for the Hawks."

Howe nodded agreement. "Sure, I hit his toe with one, his elbow with another... and his stick with another."

Howe shrugged, and Abel added: "We've got to get Gordie out of this thing and started somehow. We are going to sit down before Wednesday's game in New York and see if we can't figure some line-up shift that might help him get going."

Howe's current 12-game slump is the worst of his 19-year NHL career.

Michigan Nips Top-Ranked Team

Russell Hits At Buzzer To Gain Victory

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Whoops! That crazy-bouncing basketball has given Wichita an up-and-down feeling faster than you can say Cazzie Russell.

Russell and the rebounding Michigan Wolverines floored No. 1-ranked Wichita 87-85 Monday night, less than 24 hours after the Wheatshockers had evicted the Big Ten club from the top spot among major college powers.

Wichita's first loss and North Carolina's 84-78 decision over ninth-ranked Vanderbilt promised another shake-up in the national ratings. The Top-Ten list underwent wholesale changes last week, as reflected in The Associated Press poll released today and based on results through last Saturday.

Wichita, with four straight victories at that point, drew 23 of 33 first-place ballots and outpointed once-beaten Michigan 308-279. The Wolverines, surprised by Nebraska 74-73 Saturday night, received five first-place ballots.

The Wolves may ask for a recount after Russell's brilliant second-half performance — which included the last-second winning basket — against Wichita. Cazzie dazzled the Shockers after intermission, scoring 23 of his game-high 28 points — six in the final 1½ minutes.

The score was knotted at 85 — 16th tie in the seesaw struggle at Detroit — with four seconds to play when Wichita lost the ball on a bad pass. Russell's running one-hander dropped through the cords at the buzzer, giving the Wolverines their fifth victory.

Bob Lewis hit for 31 points, one more than teammate Billy Cunningham, at Greensboro, N.C., as North Carolina handed Vanderbilt its second straight setback. The Commodores lost to Virginia Tech 69-64 Saturday and tumbled from third to ninth in The AP poll. Vanderbilt is 3-2 on the season. The Tarheels have won five of seven.

Not one of last week's Top Ten teams held its position in this week's poll. St. Louis, upended by Missouri 72-56 Saturday night, slipped from fourth to 10th. San Francisco and Minnesota climbed into the Nos. 3 and 4 berths, respectively, and split four first-place votes.

UCLA; Duke; St. John's, N.Y.; and Kentucky all advanced after successful weekends. The Bruins, No. 5 trimmed Oklahoma State 68-52. The Blue Devils, No. 6, routed South Carolina 111-72; the Redmen, No. 7, nipped Miami, Fla., 79-77; and the Wildcats smashed Syracuse 110-77 to gain the No. 8 spot.

Four teams which received votes in the weekly poll but failed to crack the Top Ten scored impressive home-court victories Monday night. Jon McGlockin's 24 points carried Indiana past DePaul 91-78; Wayne Estes pumped 40 points as Utah State rattled Nevada 101-80; Miami of Ohio whipped Marshall 114-90, setting a school scoring record; and Drake shackled Idaho State 56-41.

Miami's Redskins remained unbeaten with a 114-90 victory over winless Marshall, set a school scoring record and moved out in front in the Mid-American Conference basketball race.

The Redskins had tied the 108-point high mark earlier this season.

Jeff Gehring paced Miami with 29 and Tom Langfitt was high for the losers with 25.

Miami is now 5-0 for the season and 2-0 in the conference.

Iowa quarterback Gary Snook set five Big Ten season records this fall.

Koufax Posts Lowest ERA In 31 Years

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers posted the lowest National League average in 31 years in winning the circuit's earned-run championship for the third consecutive season in 1964.

Koufax compiled a 1.74 mark, the official NL pitching records disclosed today. He yielded only 43 earned runs in 223 innings. Koufax also pitched the most shutouts, seven, and had the highest winning percentage, .792 on a record of 19 victories and only five defeats.

He was sidelined for the final six weeks of the campaign with a sore arm.

The 28-year-old star captured the ERA crown in 1962 with 2.54 and in 1963 with 1.88. The lowest previous average before 1964 was 1.66 by Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants in 1933.

Don Drysdale, the Dodgers' ace right-hander, was the ERA runner-up with a 2.19 average. He also topped the league in games started, 40, innings pitched with 321 and total batters faced, 1,264.

Chris Short of the Philadelphia Phillies was third in the earned run competition with a 2.20 mark. Then came Juan Marichal of San Francisco, 2.48; Jim Bunning of Philadelphia, 2.63; and Jim O'Toole, Cincinnati, 2.66.

Earned run averages are computed by multiplying the number of earned runs by nine and dividing the total by the innings pitched.

Larry Jackson of the Chicago Cubs posted the most victories, 24, while Marichal, the league's only other 20-game winner, pitched the most complete games, 22. The Giants' right-hander's won-lost record was 21-8.

Southpaw Bob Veale, of Pittsburgh, was the strikeout king with 250. He also issued the most bases on balls, 124.

Venturi Offers Showdown To Determine Top Golfers

NEW YORK (AP) — Who are really the "Big Two" of American golf?

Is it Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, the leading money winners and recent victors in the international Canada Cup competition in Hawaii?

Or is it any combination of Ken Venturi, Tony Lema and Bobby Nichols, winners of the three big medal play championships?

Venturi, the reigning U.S. Open champion, would like an answer. If necessary he would like it in a head-to-head, winner-take-all match on five of the best golf courses in the country.

"I always have thought — long before this year — that winning the U.S. Open was the major achievement in golf and that the man who grabs it should represent his country in an event like the Canada Cup," the Professional Golfers Association's Golfer of the Year said today.

"Frankly, I was offended because I wasn't chosen on the team this year. Bobby Nichols should have been equally upset."

"Between us, we won four of the six major tournaments in the matter of prestige. I won the Open and the American Classic. Bobby won the PGA and the Carlings World. Lema won the British Open and Palmer the Masters."

"Nicklaus and Palmer were picked to represent the United States in the Canada Cup. Rightfully, the two positions should have gone to the Open and PGA champions."

"I thought this five years ago. I'll think it next year when I may not win anything."

Venturi said in order to accent his point he would like to team with Lema in a challenge match against Nicklaus and Palmer, the best three-of-five best-ball matches on five outstanding courses.

"Let us put up $10,000 each and they put up the same, let television sweeten the pot for perhaps a $100,000 purse and see what happens," Venturi said. "I'm sure Lema would be all for it."

Oak Glen Meets Weirton; W. Beaver Seeks 6th Win

Oak Glen will be seeking its first win over Weirton on the Oak Glen floor and Western Beaver will go after its sixth straight when it plays host to South Side in the only two games in the district tonight.

Oak Glen will put a 1-1 record on the line while Weirton is fresh from a 65-61 victory over Wheeling Central. In two contests last season, Weirton led by Ron (Fritz) Williams defeated Oak Glen on both occasions.

Nothing has stopped the Western Beaver five so far this season and the Golden Beavers are favored to win their sixth in a row tonight.

Hardin Reported Through At Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The Naval Academy still is deliberating legal and other questions in the five-year contract of Wayne Hardin, who reportedly is through as head football coach at Navy.

Officials announced after a two-hour meeting Monday that further sessions would be necessary. "We fully expect to have a statement on Thursday," Capt. William S. Busik, director of athletics, said.

He said any speculation about Hardin's status until that time would be premature, that the "whole spectrum" of his contract was under review.

Busik confirmed that the board of athletic control, of which he is a member, had been in touch with Hardin's lawyer, B. Nathaniel Richter of Philadelphia. The coach did not attend the meeting, but Busik said he was advised of proceedings and seemed satisfied with them.

The delay only served to heighten speculation that the principal question was whether to buy up all or part of the four years remaining in the contract. Hardin reportedly makes about $18,000 a year.

Hardin's new contract took effect last January after a 9-1 season in which Navy ranked No. 2 nationally and received a Cotton Bowl bid. His team this year finished 3-6-1, including his first loss to Army in six years.

Although beaten three times this season, Syracuse scored in double figures in all 10 football games.

76ers Top Warriors In Pittsburgh Game

By The Associated Press

The foul shooting of the Philadelphia 76ers and San Francisco's Wilt Chamberlain enabled the 76ers to defeat the Warriors in the only National Basketball Association game Monday night.

The 76ers hit on 39 of 43 foul shots for a 119-112 victory over the Warriors at Pittsburgh's Civic Arena.

The Warriors, on the other hand, missed nine of 29 charity tosses. All of the misses were by Chamberlain, who also made six and was the game's high scorer with 40 points.

Reds Deal Purkey For Craig, James

CINCINNATI (AP) — Roger Craig, the losingest pitcher in the National League in 1962-63, and power-hitting Charley James have been acquired by the Cincinnati Reds.

The Reds traded knuckleball artist Bob Purkey and an unidentified minor league player to the world champion St. Louis Cardinals for Craig and James.

Reds owner William O. DeWitt announced the trade Monday and said the minor league player will be named later.

Purkey, 35, has been with the Reds since 1958, and recorded his best season in 1962, winning 23 and losing five. That year Purkey beat every club in the league at least once and compiled an earned run average of 2.81.

"We're hopeful that Craig will be our right-hand relief man and that James will give us an extra right-hand hitter in the outfield," said DeWitt.

Craig won his "losing" title with the New York Mets, winning only 10 games and losing 24 in 1962. In 1963 he won five and lost 22.

The Mets traded Craig to St. Louis and he was 7-9 for the Cardinals last season with an ERA of 3.25. Craig started his career in 1955 with the old Brooklyn Dodgers and has a World Series record of 1-2 for the Dodgers.

James batted .223 for the Cardinals last season. He hit five home runs.

Purkey compiled a 11-9 record last season, with most of his victories coming in the final two months. His ERA was 3.03.

Reds Boss Will Improve Park If City Cooperates

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds owner William O. Dewitt was in a trading mood Monday.

The Reds' boss, besides swapping pitcher Bob Purkey for St. Louis' Roger Craig, said he would improve Crosley Field to the tune of $3.5 million if the city of Cincinnati would build more parking lots around the ballpark.

This was learned after Dewitt met in a closed session with city, county and civic leaders.

Dewitt, it was reported, wants the city to build four parking lots at a cost of $2.2 million. The new lots would provide 2-

132 parking spaces, nearly doubling the present city-owned parking facilities.

Baseball fans have complained for years about lack of parking spaces and many contend they do not attend games because of it.

The major part of the Crosley Field improvement would be an additional 8,000 seats, bringing the capacity to around 38,000, a spokesman said. The improvements probably would be done in three stages.

Dewitt said a $450,000 paint-up and clean-up will be done on Crosley Field before next season, but this is not part of the overall improvement program.

QUESTION: Why do children have to go to school whether they like it or not?

ANSWER: In the Middle Ages, there was little schooling available to ordinary people. Colleges, however, were founded early to instruct young people of high social rank. By the 1700's, more general education became available. When the colonists came to America, they brought the principles of education with them. The New Englanders were especially interested in education, using such devices as the hornbook (1) to teach letters and numbers. Soon, public schools appeared.

In this enormous new country where the movement of settlers soon began to the westward, people had to act themselves and think for themselves. So the pioneer (2) is symbolically shown carrying a book as well as an ax. As towns and villages grew, more and more brain workers were needed (3). Furthermore, the whole American idea had grown to be that the people themselves were to be their own rulers. Since this was and still is our underlying conception, then the people, meaning all the citizens, must be educated in order that they may make good and wise decisions for the benefit of all. Such schooling, too, gives each person the best chance of individual success.

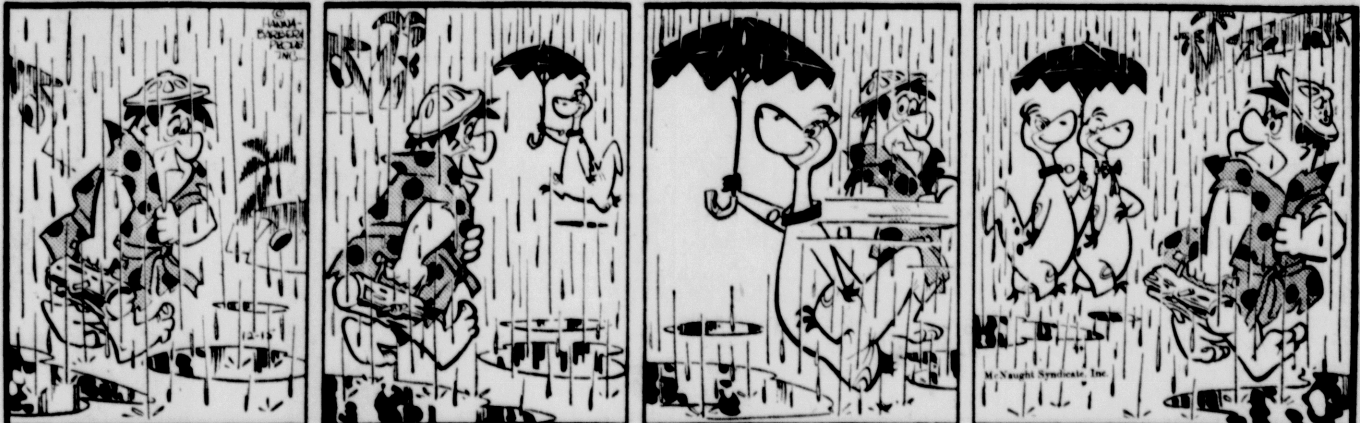

FOR YOU TO DO: Look your school over carefully to see how many comforts and conveniences were put there for your particular benefit. You'll find a great many of them.

Sandra Roveita of Redwood City, Calif., wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win the weekly prize or the daily prize of Compton's Pictured Science Dictionary plus $10 cash.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Stop! Look! Look! Listen! Last year I did not have time to make homemade eggnog. But I learned how to doctor the store-bought kind.

I bought a package of synthetic whipped cream, beat it according to directions, dropped in about a tablespoon of vanilla to each quart of eggnog (one can use imitation rum flavoring), and then mixed the two.

I did not have one guest in my house ask me whether or not the eggnog was homemade. They all wanted the recipe!

Here's another thing.

You can buy boxed ice cream mix, and do you know that you do not even have to buy the eggnog when using ice cream mix? All you do is add milk to it, whip it up, and pour it into your eggnog bowl! This is the best yet but it so happened that last year we could not find ice cream mix in the stores. So look for it and keep it on hand, gals.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever I buy a blanket I stitch a line, as close to the edge as possible, across the satin binding.

No more split edges and the binding will look nice for years.

MILDRED L.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that when making chicken or turkey dressing and the eggs are a pale color, that you can add a few drops of yellow food coloring and you will have the most tempting looking dressing?

It will be a golden yellow.

I also add a few drops of this yellow coloring to giblet gravy.

MAGGIE

I tried it, Maggie old dear. It looks like it's loaded with butter! Bless you.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: During bad weather a thin piece of sponge rubber, approximately 1 1/2 x 2 feet long, is excellent to put on the floor of your car to absorb the water and gunk one drags into the car. It is also comfortable as a foot rest.

When the sponge rubber has absorbed as much moisture as possible, just wring and rinse it and wring again, then return it to the floor of your unpuddled car.

I use two pieces of sponge rubber for the front and two for the back floor of the car.

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Forgotten hints will never make our housework easier and your hints are too good to forget.

So here is the best memory master going — cut out the hints you want to use and attach each one to the area or item it relates to. For example, sewing hints near your sewing area, and hints about the garage pinned up in the garage. This way, Heloise will be all over the house!

Ohio Director's Decision Due On 5-Cent Pay Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Industrial Relations Director William O. Walker is expected to decide later this week if a nickel-an-hour pay raise is an insult or an inducement.

Walker, who has 10 days in which to act, must decide whether to approve the recommendations of a State Minimum Wage Board to raise the pay for women and minors in the food and lodging industry.

A labor official told a public hearing on the matter Monday that such recommendations "do not merit serious consideration and should be rejected as an insult to the industry."

Warren Smith, a legislative representative for the Ohio AFL-CIO, said the proposals "belong" in the 18th Century. He was one of eight persons who testified.

The wage board on Nov. 10

recommended the five-cent-an-hour increase for non-service workers, now receiving 70 cents an hour. No increase was proposed for service workers, who get 55 cents an hour and tips.

Ohio Couple Found Dead In Parked Car

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — A Morrow County couple has been found dead in their parked car, victims of carbon monoxide poisoning six days ago.

Found Monday were Mr. and Mrs. James E. Sheets of Rt. 1, Centerburg. Their car was parked on a small road near County Road 13, about 10 miles from here. They had last been seen this past Wednesday.

Coroner Dr. Robert Sweeney ruled asphyxiation by carbon monoxide poisoning and said the two had been dead for several days. Sheriff's deputies said the car had a faulty muffler system.
